SECTION 1

Introduction and Purpose

This HR Policy Manual sets out the principles, rules and procedures that govern the employment relationship at [Company Name] (the "Company"). It is intended to give every employee a clear, consistent understanding of what the Company expects from them and what they can expect from the Company.

1.1 Scope

These policies apply to all employees, including permanent, fixed-term, part-time, probationary and trainee staff, regardless of location or seniority. Contractors, consultants and interns are covered by the sections on confidentiality, conduct, IT use and anti-harassment, and by the terms of their individual agreements.

1.2 Objectives

- Provide a fair, safe, respectful and productive workplace for everyone.
- Ensure decisions about people are made consistently, transparently and without bias.
- Help managers and employees understand their rights and responsibilities.
- Support compliance with applicable labour laws and regulations.

1.3 Roles and Responsibilities

Role	Responsibility
Employees	Read, understand and comply with all policies; raise concerns promptly and in good faith.
Managers	Apply policies fairly, lead by example, and escalate issues to HR without delay.
HR Department	Maintain, interpret and communicate policies; advise on their application; keep records.
Senior Leadership	Approve policy changes and ensure adequate resources for compliance.

1.4 Policy Review and Amendment

The Company may amend these policies at any time to reflect changes in law, business needs or best practice. Material changes will be communicated in writing. Where a policy conflicts with applicable law or a signed employment contract, the law or contract prevails.

Note: This document is a sample template. Figures, entitlements and procedures shown are illustrative and should be reviewed and adapted by the Company's HR and legal teams before adoption.

SECTION 2

Equal Employment Opportunity

[Company Name] is committed to equal opportunity in every aspect of employment. Decisions on hiring, pay, training, promotion, transfer and termination are based on merit, skills, performance and business needs.

2.1 Protected Characteristics

The Company does not tolerate discrimination based on race, colour, caste, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, age, disability, nationality, ethnic or social origin, or any other characteristic protected by law.

2.2 Our Commitments

- Advertise vacancies in ways that reach a diverse pool of candidates.
- Use structured, job-related criteria in interviews and evaluations.
- Provide equal access to training, mentoring and advancement.
- Apply pay and benefits decisions consistently and review them periodically for equity.
- Ensure that no employee is treated less favourably for raising a good-faith concern.

2.3 Reasonable Accommodation

The Company will make reasonable adjustments for employees and candidates with disabilities or medical conditions, or for sincerely held religious practices, unless doing so would cause undue hardship. Requests should be made to HR, who will discuss options with the employee and, where appropriate, obtain relevant supporting information.

2.4 Accessibility of Workplaces and Tools

Facilities, systems and recruitment processes should be accessible to all. Employees who encounter barriers are encouraged to tell HR so that they can be addressed.

2.5 Monitoring and Accountability

HR will track workforce diversity and pay data at an aggregate level and report findings to senior leadership at least annually. Managers who breach this policy may face disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

SECTION 3

Recruitment and Hiring

The Company aims to attract, select and onboard the best candidates through a fair, transparent and efficient process.

3.1 Requisition and Approval

3.2 Selection Process

3.3 Pre-Employment Checks

Offers are conditional on satisfactory verification of identity, right to work, educational and professional qualifications, and previous employment. Where permitted by law and relevant to the role, additional background checks may be carried out with the candidate's written consent.

3.4 Employee Referrals and Conflicts of Interest

Employees may refer candidates and may receive a referral reward under the Company's referral scheme. Employees must not participate in hiring decisions involving family members, close friends or anyone with whom they have a personal or financial relationship, and must disclose such relationships to HR.

3.5 Onboarding

New joiners receive a welcome pack, equipment, system access, an induction schedule and an assigned buddy. HR and the line manager will hold check-ins at the end of the first week, first month and at the end of the probation period.

SECTION 4

Employment Classification and Probation

4.1 Categories of Employment

4.2 Probation

New permanent employees serve a probation period of six months unless their contract states otherwise. During probation, the manager sets clear objectives and gives regular feedback. Probation may be extended once, for up to three additional months, where further assessment is needed.

4.3 Confirmation

- The manager submits a written probation review to HR at least two weeks before the end of the period.
- Where performance is satisfactory, HR issues a confirmation letter.
- Where performance is unsatisfactory, the employee will be told of the concerns, given a fair opportunity to respond and, if appropriate, notified of termination in line with the contract.

4.4 Notice During Probation

Either party may end employment during probation by giving the shorter notice specified in the employment contract. The Company may, at its discretion, pay in lieu of notice.

4.5 Changes to Terms of Employment

Promotions, transfers, changes of role or location, and changes to working patterns will be confirmed in writing by HR. Employees will normally receive reasonable notice of significant changes and an opportunity to discuss them.

4.6 Employee Records

HR maintains a personnel file for every employee. Employees must keep their contact, emergency-contact, banking and tax information up to date through the HR system.

SECTION 5

Working Hours and Attendance

5.1 Standard Working Hours

The standard working week is 40 hours, Monday to Friday, with core collaboration hours between 10:00 and 16:00 local time. A one-hour unpaid meal break is provided each day. Specific schedules may differ for shift-based, customer-support or operations roles as set out in the employment contract.

5.2 Flexible Working

Employees may request flexible start and finish times, compressed weeks or part-time arrangements. Requests are considered on business need, team coverage and role suitability, and are approved by the line manager in consultation with HR.

5.3 Attendance and Punctuality

- Employees must be available and reachable during their agreed working hours.
- If unable to attend, notify the line manager as early as possible, and within one hour of the start of the working day.
- Repeated or unexplained absence or lateness may be addressed under the disciplinary procedure.
- Unauthorised absence for three or more consecutive working days may be treated as abandonment of employment.

5.4 Overtime and On-Call

Overtime must be approved in advance by the line manager. Eligible employees are compensated with overtime pay or time off in lieu, in accordance with applicable law and their contract. Employees on an on-call rota receive an on-call allowance and compensatory rest after major incidents.

5.5 Public Holidays

The Company publishes an annual list of public and restricted holidays at the start of each calendar year. Employees required to work on a public holiday will receive compensatory leave or additional pay.

5.6 Timekeeping

Employees record attendance and time worked in the HR system. Accurate recording is an employee's responsibility, and falsifying records is treated as serious misconduct.

SECTION 6

6.3 Carry-Forward and Encashment

Up to 10 days of unused annual leave may be carried forward to the next calendar year and must be used within the first six months. Casual and sick leave lapse at year end. Encashment of unused leave on separation follows the terms of the employment contract and applicable law.

6.4 Leave During Notice Period

Note: Statutory leave entitlements vary by country and state. Where law provides a greater entitlement than shown above, the law applies.

SECTION 7

Parental and Family Leave

[Company Name] supports employees in balancing work with family responsibilities. Statutory entitlements are the minimum; the Company's enhanced entitlements are summarised below.

7.1 Maternity Leave

Eligible employees are entitled to paid maternity leave in line with applicable law and may combine it with annual leave. Employees should notify HR of the expected due date as early as practicable and in any case at least eight weeks before the intended start date. Health-related appointments during pregnancy are treated as paid time off.

7.2 Paternity and Partner Leave

Employees who become parents through birth, adoption or surrogacy are entitled to up to 15 working days of paid partner leave, taken within twelve months of the event, in one block or two.

7.3 Adoption and Surrogacy

No employee will be disadvantaged in pay, performance ratings, promotion or job security because they have taken or requested family-related leave.

SECTION 8

Compensation, Benefits and Payroll

8.1 Compensation Philosophy

Pay is set to be fair, competitive and internally equitable, based on role scope, skills, experience, performance and market benchmarks. Salary bands are reviewed annually by HR and Finance.

9.3 Performance Improvement Plan (PIP)

Where performance falls short of expectations, the manager will first discuss concerns informally. If improvement is not achieved, a written PIP of 30 to 90 days may be issued with specific goals, support and review dates. Failure to meet the PIP may lead to further action, up to termination.

9.4 Recognition

The Company recognises outstanding contributions through peer awards, spot bonuses, public acknowledgement and promotion. Managers are encouraged to recognise good work frequently and specifically.

9.5 Promotions

Promotions are based on sustained performance at the current level, demonstrated readiness for the next level, and business need. Employees are encouraged to discuss career paths with their managers at least once a year.

SECTION 10

Learning and Development

The Company invests in the continuous growth of its people because skilled, motivated employees drive business success.

10.1 Development Planning

10.3 Certifications and Study Support

The Company may fund exam fees for approved professional certifications and grant paid study leave for exam preparation, as set out in Section 6. Employees who fail an exam may be supported for one additional attempt at the manager's discretion.

10.4 Repayment (Clawback)

If an employee leaves voluntarily within 12 months of completing Company-funded training costing more than the amount specified in the training agreement, they may be required to repay a pro-rated portion of the cost, subject to applicable law.

10.5 Mentoring and Internal Mobility

Employees may join the mentoring programme as mentors or mentees. Open internal roles are advertised for at least five working days before external advertisement, and eligible employees may apply after 12 months in their current position, with manager notification.

10.6 Mandatory Training

All employees must complete mandatory training on code of conduct, information security, anti-harassment and health and safety within 30 days of joining and annually thereafter.

11.2 Conflicts of Interest

Examples include outside employment with competitors, financial interests in suppliers or customers, and using Company resources for personal gain. Potential conflicts must be disclosed to the line manager and HR in writing.

11.3 Gifts and Hospitality

Employees must not solicit gifts, and may accept only modest, occasional gifts or hospitality that could not reasonably be seen as influencing a business decision. Gifts above the value specified in the Gift Register threshold must be declined or declared to HR.

11.4 Anti-Bribery and Corruption

The Company prohibits bribery in any form, including facilitation payments and kickbacks, whether dealing with public officials or private parties. Employees must never offer, promise, give, request or accept anything of value to improperly influence a decision.

11.5 Outside Activities and Social Media

Outside work, volunteering and public speaking are welcome provided they do not conflict with the Company's interests or working commitments. On social media, employees must not speak on behalf of the Company without authorisation, must not disclose confidential information, and must remain respectful.

11.6 Speaking Up

Employees who suspect wrongdoing should report it to their manager, HR or the confidential ethics helpline. The Company prohibits retaliation against anyone who raises a concern in good faith.

4. Decide	Findings and recommended action are reported to a senior decision-maker, typically within 30 days.
5. Outcome	Both parties are informed of the outcome; action, support and follow-up are agreed.

12.3 Confidentiality and Protection

Complaints are handled confidentially and shared only with those who need to know. Complainants and witnesses are protected from retaliation. Interim measures, such as changes to reporting lines or seating, may be used while an investigation is under way.

12.4 Consequences

Substantiated breaches will lead to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. Deliberately false or malicious complaints are also a breach of this policy.

SECTION 13

Confidentiality and Data Protection

Employees handle information that is valuable to the Company and sensitive to its customers, partners and colleagues. Protecting it is a condition of employment.

13.1 Confidential Information

Any actual or suspected data breach, loss of a device or unauthorised disclosure must be reported to the Information Security team and the line manager immediately, and in any case within 24 hours of discovery.

13.5 Non-Disclosure Obligations

Confidentiality obligations continue after employment ends. On leaving, employees must return all Company property and data and must not retain copies. Nothing in this policy prevents an employee from making a protected disclosure or reporting a legal violation to the appropriate authorities.

SECTION 14

- Trips must be approved in advance by the line manager (and department head for international travel).
- Book as early as possible to secure lower fares and better availability.

14.2 Reimbursement Conditions

SECTION 15

IT Acceptable Use and Remote Work

15.1 Acceptable Use of Company Systems

Company devices, networks, email and software are provided for business use. Limited, reasonable personal use is permitted provided it does not interfere with work, security or the law. The Company may monitor use of its systems to the extent permitted by law.

15.2 Security Requirements

- Use strong, unique passwords and multi-factor authentication on all Company accounts.
- Never share credentials, or allow others to use your account or device.
- Install only approved software and keep devices updated and encrypted.
- Do not connect unapproved external storage or hardware to Company devices.
- Be alert to phishing and report suspicious messages to the security team.

15.3 Use of AI Tools

Employees may use approved generative AI tools to improve productivity. Confidential, customer or personal data must not be entered into unapproved tools, and outputs must be reviewed for accuracy, bias and intellectual-property risks before use.

Company equipment remains Company property and must be returned on request or at separation. Loss, theft or damage must be reported immediately.

SECTION 16

Health, Safety and Wellbeing

[Company Name] is committed to providing a safe and healthy working environment and to supporting the physical and mental wellbeing of every employee.

16.1 Shared Responsibilities

- Take part in evacuation drills; follow the direction of the floor wardens.
- In an emergency, alert security or reception and call the relevant emergency number.
- Trained first-aiders and fire wardens are identified on every floor.

All workplace accidents, injuries and dangerous occurrences must be reported to HR within 24 hours. HR will record the incident, investigate root causes and put corrective actions in place.

16.4 Mental Health and Wellbeing

The Company recognises that mental health is as important as physical health. Employees can access a confidential Employee Assistance Programme (EAP) offering counselling and support, and managers are trained to spot early signs of stress and to approach conversations with care. Employees are encouraged to use their leave, disconnect after hours and speak up if workloads become unmanageable.

16.5 Workplace Ergonomics

Employees may request an ergonomic assessment of their workstation, whether in the office or at home. Reasonable equipment adjustments will be supplied.

- Final written warning: for repeated or more serious misconduct.
- Dismissal: for gross misconduct or failure to improve after a final warning.

17.3 Fair Process

Before any formal action, the employee will be told the allegations in writing, given reasonable time to prepare, and allowed to be accompanied by a colleague at the hearing. Decisions will be confirmed in writing, along with the right to appeal. Suspension on full pay may be used while a serious allegation is investigated; it is not a disciplinary action.

17.4 Grievance Procedure

Employees with a work-related concern should first raise it informally with their manager. If it is not resolved, or if the concern is about the manager, they may submit a written grievance to HR. HR will arrange a meeting within five working days, investigate as needed and respond in writing.
